Solomon Exam Prep is thrilled to announce a partnership with Clafin University and Lincoln Financial Advisors. With sponsorship from Lincoln Financial, Clafin University students will receive the Solomon study materials they need to pass the FINRA Securities Industry Essentials (SIE) exam. The new Clafin SIE course will be named Investment Theory and will be offered in Spring 2021.

Dr. Nicholas Hill, Dean of the School of Business, is excited about this partnership especially as “all parties are committed to increasing the representation of minorities that are in the financial industry.”

Solomon Exam Prep President Jeremy Solomon says: “Solomon is honored to work with Clafin University on a new investing course to prepare students to take the FINRA Securities Industry Essentials exam. The SIE exam is the foundational exam required for anyone who wants to become nationally licensed to work in the securities industry. We are extremely fortunate that Lincoln Financial has agreed to sponsor Clafin study materials and the SIE exam fee.”
